

The Dance Academy
March 2022 Newsletter

Dear Parents and Students:

Dancers may still ADD CLASSES: We are still accepting students into non-performance technique and conditioning/cross training classes for the Spring.

Recital Update: We are working on several options for recital venues or set ups. As soon as we can confirm an option and sign a contract, we will give you all the details! Hopefully later this week.

Costumes: Costumes are starting to go out please email the studio immediately if you are missing a something. You will receive a costume detail sheet for each class/costume that notes headpieces, tight/shoe color, hair style, etcetera via email. A master list will also be available at the front desk and posted to the website.

Summer Classes and Camps: Registration will open March 11 for our summer session which begins the week of July 11. Register early to make sure you don't miss out on summer dance days. Classes and intensives are in weekly increments so that you can mix and match to build the perfect summer schedule. Early registration discounts and multi-week discounts available until June 1 with payment for summer not due until July 1.

Be The First To Know: Follow us on Instagram and Facebook at danceacademyweb for all the latest updates and studio news.

Spring Break: The studio will be closed Monday, April 11-Monday, April 18 classes will resume Tuesday, April 19.

Youth America Grand Prix: Our students will compete at this prestigious international ballet competition March 4-6 in Philadelphia. Follow us on Facebook and Instagram for live updates on our performance times. You can catch all the action via live stream:

CLASSICAL categories will be streamed via the YAGP YouTube Channel, and CONTEMPORARY and ENSEMBLE categories will be streamed on our website, www.yagp.org.
